1 READING BrothersJoshua has a new diary (= Tagebuch). He writes about his home and his family.

Dear diary,

Tuesday, 11th March

That's me in the picture. And there's my older brother, Oliver. I'm eleven now, but Oliver is older, he's thirteen. We share a room in our flat. Oliver is OK. We go to the park together and play football. Oliver is a good football player. And I can have his bike when I need it. It's a cool bike. Oliver helps me with my English homework - he's good at English, but I'm better at maths.

But Oliver is really bossy. We always play his favourite computer games or watch his favourite TV shows. And he's very noisy. Oliver listens to music or meets all his friends - in our room! It's no fun! And the room is so messy. I can't find my clothes! I really need a room just for me. His football shoes aren't in the wardrobe, they're on my desk. I can't do my homework on a desk with football shoes. And where's my English book? It's on my shelf but his old socks are there too!

So I really want a room for me, but Mum says the flat is too small. She's right. We have a living room, the bedroom for mum and dad and the room for Oliver and me. I'm not very happy in this flat. We need a nice big house with a garden!

And more space for me. That's my dream!
